3041AA	*	Blackberry Mobile Wireless E-Mail	Blackberry Service integrates seamlessly with the NMCI user's existing e-mail account providing a wireless extension of their NMCI e-mail mailbox. Nationwide wireless network support is only provided to existing commercial infrastructure and coverage areas. Features include the ability to read, compose, forward, reply, delete or file unclassified messages using a single NMCI e-mail address and mailbox. Service only supports "Enterprise" server e-mail redirection provided by NMCI. No desktop redirector functions will be supported by this service. Users can control which messages they receive on their wireless handheld by setting e-mail filters that monitor key words and message fields from their NMCI data seat. This service is only interoperable with NMCI provided e-mail services and does not include interoperability with other messaging systems (e.g. DMS). This service incorporates advance Triple DES encryption technology to meet security guidelines for remote e-mail access for all incoming and outgoing transmissions. E-mail message content remains encrypted at all points between the Blackberry wireless handheld messaging device and the NMCI e-mail account, ensuring the integrity and security of the data. Forwarding of attachments is supported. Opening and reading attachments is not supported. Personal organizer software, including calendar, address book, memo pad and task list is included. Basic paging service is included. This service is available for unclassified use only. This service is FIPS 140-1 compliant. Also included is discreet notification of arriving e-mail and secure password capability. Additional software required will be made available under CLIN 0023. This service does not include "Poison pill" technology to automatically secure/wipe lost devices, integration of a hardware token/CAC, roaming access, or Web access. Minimum Specifications: Hardware: 5 Mb flash memory plus 512Kb SRAM, 32-bit Intel 386 processor, Embedded wireless modem, Optimized keyboard, Thumb-operated track wheel, User-selectable 16 or 20 line display, Size: 4.6 x 3.1 x 0.70 inches, Less than 5.3 ounces including battery, Docking/Charging Cradle.
